

BECOME A MOUNTAIN PROTECTOR

Birdseye Mountain and the Herrick Mountain range, Ira, Vermont

The Herrick Mountain range in Ira, next to Birdseye Mountain, was saved from wind energy development. Thanks to the organized efforts of Vermonters for a Clean Environment, these lands are now a state wildlife management area.

If you are among the many Vermonters and others who love Vermont's mountains and want to protect them from industrial development, join the only statewide organization — Vermonters for a Clean Environment — that has been effective in saving many of them. Become a Mountain Protector. We can do more together!

Name _____
Address _____
City/Town _____ State ____ Zip _____
Phone _____ E-mail _____

Print and mail this page with your tax-deductible donation.

Send to: VCE, 789 Baker Brook Road, Danby, VT 0573